Background

Cannabis is prohibited under Omani law, primarily through the Anti-Narcotics Law and associated regulations. Oman's approach is strongly enforcement-based, the authorities actively monitor and prevent drug trafficking, and penalties for violations are severe. While some countries in the region have begun exploring medical cannabis, Oman currently maintains a zero-tolerance policy.

- Possession: Illegal. Penalties vary according to quantity, with severe sentences for larger amounts.
- Sale & Distribution: Strictly prohibited. Trafficking cannabis or related substances carries imprisonment, depending on quantity.
